WHAT'S NEW: THE HOME SCHOOL

The kids are back at school! Check out The Home School (still in very early stages), aimed at helping secondary-aged students at home - whether that's for homework, to supplement classwork, or to utilise during absence from school. The first post - Get the Basics Right: Spelling - addresses a basic skill that is the Achilles' Heel of many of us, with some strategies and downloadable material to help foster better spelling!

LETTER FROM LAPLAND

It may be early autumn but already the supermarkets are stocking their shelves with Yuletide fare - and before you know it preparations for the annual madness are well underway. A personalised letter from Santa could be just the thing to keep the kids' excitement in check in the run-up to the big day. My Letter from Lapland service is available from the start of November.

OTHER NEWS: FILM & TV REVIEWS

While I've been reviewing books for some time, I have now extended this to cover film and TV screened on some of your favourite channels. Read my reviews and have your own two penn'orth in the comments section.
